

LEGION COMMITTEE FATE IN BALANCE

Organization to Have No Governing Body Unless State Charter Is Ratified

The fate of the Philadelphia county committee of the American Legion is again hanging in the balance.

As a result of the successful conduct of the first legion field meet on Franklin field Saturday a substantial sum will be turned over to the treasurer of the county committee as its portion of the proceeds. Sixty per cent of all the funds realized from the sale of tickets will be remitted to the respective posts according to the proportion of sales.

The athletic committee has been carrying the expense of the legion county headquarters, at 1011 Chestnut street, but is not obligated to do so beyond the time required to wind up the business incident to the field day. The question as to whether the county headquarters shall be closed must be decided by the county committee at its meeting Wednesday evening, October 6, in the Chamber of Commerce assembly room.

Must Wind up Work

The existing county organization will cease to function as soon as the new state constitution has been ratified and a district deputy has been appointed by David J. Davis, the department commander, to take charge of legion affairs in Philadelphia. The district deputy, although greatly in need of clerical assistance and an office from which to operate, will not be permitted under the constitution to utilize the headquarters, which could be maintained only from funds of the present county committee.

The only money which may be paid to the deputy is for traveling expenses, which in Philadelphia would amount to a very few dollars a week for trolley fare.

It has been announced by department headquarters that the new constitution will have been ratified by October 1, and the deputy commander who will have charge of the seventy-six posts in Philadelphia county will be named immediately after the national convention in Cleveland. Unless three-fifths of the posts, representing three-fifths of the total paid-up membership in Philadelphia county, request the department commander to call for the organization of a county committee in Philadelphia, there will be no such organization shortly after the middle of October, according to present indications.

Post Plans Party

Tringa Post No. 819 will hold a Hallows' party under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary. This post is in charge of Dr. William E. Haken, and it has developed one of the strong organizations in the city. It plans to double its membership during the winter.

After relaxing during the summer months, the Women's Auxiliary of James J. Barry Post 83, renewed its meetings Tuesday, September 14, with Mrs. Thomas F. Meehan in the chair.

The auxiliary anticipates an active season and will begin by calling a special meeting Tuesday, September 21, to be held jointly with the post at the headquarters, Fifty-sixth and Christian streets. Plans will be discussed for a carnival to be held for the benefit of the Memorial Home fund, which home the post contemplates building in the near future.

Dispute Over Seat Results in An Injury and One Arrest

During a dispute regarding a seat in a trolley car yesterday, John Carrigan, thirty-eight years old, 1815 Sigel street, was stabbed by Eugene Schuler, thirty-eight years old, a negro, of 1035 Butler street.

With three other men, Carrigan boarded a Sixteenth street car at Thompson street. Schuler, who was seated, was asked to move a little to make room for one of the men. He refused and during an argument which followed the negro drew a knife and stabbed Carrigan. The injured man was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, and Schuler was locked up in the Nineteenth and Oxford streets police station. He was held in $500 bail for the grand jury.
